HYREUS Prototype Readme

Here is the link to our prototype:

After navigating to the link, you should see this page. For the best viewing experience, select "Fit to screen" from the "Options" menu in the top right corner.

On the left side, you will see a section labeled "Flows". Selecting any of these will take you to a predetermined page in our prototype. The default flow is the "Landing Page", which will allow you to go through the registration process. For the purposes of our demo, you are only able to register as a "Job Seeker". Attempting to register as an "Industry Professional" or a "Recruiter" will skip the registration process and take you straight to their respective home pages.

The "Job Seeker Home", "Industry Professional Home", and "Recruiter Home" flows will take you to each actor's home pages, if you want to skip the registration process or quickly switch to another actor's perspective of Hyreus.

If you are ever confused about whether something is able to be interacted with (i.e. clickable), simply click the object, or anywhere else on the screen. If the object is clickable, the appropriate action will occur. Else, blue boxes will briefly flash around the objects in the current page that actually can be interacted with.

Feel free to explore the entirety of the prototype, and we look forward to showing you our product on Wednesday!
